

Use this form to calculate your tax on split income if you meet all of the following conditions:

- you were born in 1999 or later (or you claimed a reserve on line C on your 2015 Form T1206);
- you were a non-resident at no time in 2016;
- you have a parent who was resident in Canada at any time in 2016; and
- you reported split income on your 2016 return, as described below.

Split income includes the following amounts:

- shareholder benefits (other than from ownership of shares of a class listed on a prescribed stock exchange) conferred on you, whether directly or through a partnership or trust (other than a mutual fund trust);
- taxable amount of dividends (eligible and other than eligible) from ownership of shares of a corporation (other than from shares of a class listed on a prescribed stock exchange and those of a mutual fund corporation), whether received directly or through a partnership or trust (other than a mutual fund trust);

Note

If you dispose of shares to a person with whom you do not deal at arm's length, and dividends on the shares would be subject to the tax on split income, then the capital gain arising from the disposition is deemed to be a taxable dividend. The deemed dividend is not an eligible dividend. If this applies to you, complete the calculation below.

- income you received from a partnership or trust (other than a mutual fund trust) that came from income that a partnership or trust earned from providing property or services to, or in support of, a business carried on by:
 - a person related to you at any time in 2016;
 - a corporation of which one of your relatives was a specified shareholder at any time in 2016; or
 - a professional corporation of which one of your relatives was a shareholder at any time in 2016; and
- income you received from a business or rental property of a partnership or trust (other than a mutual fund trust), if a person who is related to you at any time in the year:
 - actively participates on a regular basis in the activity of the partnership or trust of earning that income; or
 - in the case of a partnership, has an interest in the partnership directly or indirectly through another partnership.

Split income does not include the income described above from property you inherited from a parent. It also does not include the income described above from property you inherited from anyone else provided you were either enrolled as a full-time student at a post-secondary educational institution in 2016, or you were eligible to claim the disability amount for 2016.

Attach a completed copy of this form to your return.

Deemed dividends from dispositions of certain capital property

(shares subject to tax on split income)

If you (or a trust of which you are the beneficiary) disposed of shares to a person with whom you do not deal at arm's length, and the dividends on such shares would be subject to tax on split income, you must complete the calculation below. Otherwise, complete Part 1 to calculate your federal tax on split income, and Part 2 to calculate your provincial or territorial tax.

Capital gain on dispositions in 2016

Amount of 2015 reserve (from line C of Form T1206 for 2015)		B		A
Amount of 2016 reserve (calculated below)	–	C
Line B minus line C (if negative, show in brackets)	=		+	D
Line A plus line D		Net capital gain	=	E
Gains from box 21 of your T3 slip(s) (relating to such dispositions)			+	F
Line E plus line F			=	G

Multiply the amount on line G by 1.17 and include this amount on lines 1 and 2 of Part 1 on the next page, in Part 1 of Schedule 4, and on lines 120 and 180 of your return. Do not include this amount on Schedule 3.

If you were 18 years of age or older in 2016, enter the amount from line G on the applicable line(s) of Schedule 3.
